

Constant, Continuous Favor

Ep. 8: Constant, Continuous Favor: A Devotional Prophetic Word

This is what the Father would say to you:

"I am indulging myself in your life so that you will become highly confident towards Me.

I have given you my Empowering Presence, so that you may know My intentional desire for constant, continuous favor, even in the ordinary things of life.

I will take your favor into a high and deep place of confidence... confidence in My goodness... so that a greater faith in who I AM ...and who you are in Me... begins to grow.

In this place of My indulgence, I will teach you how to stand in the place of My desire so that My desires become yours.

Your favor in Jesus means that you will stand in My presence and hear my heart saying, 'Yes.'

There are battles that some of you are facing and have faced ...where you have known defeat.

I say to you, "I will teach you to fight differently.
I will teach you to fight from the place of astonishment.
I'll teach you to fight from the place of favor...
Favor to bounce back, rise up and catch up.

I will develop in you the capacity to receive favor and you will come to bask in My support for you.

I will indulge Myself in your heart, your mind and your life.... And teach you to anticipate My desire.

My desires shall be made known and they shall become your dreams.

I'll teach you how to dream from a deeper place. I'll teach you how to dream into a bigger place where My promises are the language of love between us..

My will shall be revealed and you will walk in awe of it. I will intensify My intentionality in your life until it takes hold of your own desires and dreams... and you are transformed by My delight in you.

Many of you are unconvinced that I delight in you at all ...but I love you. You are my people. You are my chosen ones.

My intentionality will become your identity and you will walk as Jesus walked... in the full knowledge and permission of the Father.

My favor creates a new identity in you and draws you into a more powerful inheritance than you can possibly imagine.

I'm going to take that mindset that you have about me and I'm going to fill it with bright expectation of who I am in you... to you ... and through you.

You will know who you are in Me for I shall declare and proclaim your identity with great joy. I love who you are now and I love who you are becoming.

My unchanging love will always be a part of your learning process!

Your faith will come to a new dynamic level of anointing to receive. I will push you," says the Lord, "into a deep place of receiving.

I will joyfully position you in my manifest presence, so that you will begin to occupy the territory of my heart and my affection for you.

In this place of My indulgent affection...I will teach you the pleasurable delight of discipline working hand-in-hand with the Holy Spirit.

I will teach you to be sensitive to Him because He knows who you are in Jesus. He has gone before you. And He knows the fastest and the best way to get there.

So, come beloved. Rest in My desire for you. Accept My benevolence.

Depend on My passion to see you blessed because of who you encounter Me to be for you now.

Expect to see the goodness of the Lord in the land of the living.

It's not just about Me wanting to give you something for your life...although that's a major part of it.

I want so much favor in your life that the whole of your community can be touched by what I bring to you.

I want My life in yours to overflow so that everywhere you go, Living Water will appear in your footsteps.

That everywhere you go, people will encounter Me because you're just walking through their life...in the fullness of who we are together.

You traveling in fullness will bring blessing and favor to whomever you connect with.

That is the gospel. That's normal kingdom life... that you live a life happily beyond your own circumstances in deep and abiding relationship with Me.

For sure, there will be adversity. Life wouldn't be full without adversity.

You know that for faith and favor to grow, you need a mindset that sees every situation as something to get your teeth into, so that you can be astonished by who God is for you.

You're learning that nothing can remove you from My favor because you abide in Me and I abide in you. See EVERYTHING as an opportunity to encounter My grace and favor.

So come. Rest in my Empowering Presence. Don't delay. Stop putting life off until you feel better. Step into a new place of relationship and favor with me.

It's an affair of the heart, as well as an opportunity for you to experience My mind.

I bestow upon you a newness of life and a spirit of wisdom and revelation that you would walk in agreement with Me because that's the lifestyle I most want to teach you... how to agree with God and be at peace."
