

EMBRACING THE BEAUTY OF GOD

GRAHAM COOKE

EPISODE 2: Prophetic Word Transcript

Beloved, the reason why you are always so wonderfully loved by Me is that I put you into My beloved Son. So that means you are now the beloved, also.

You have the same place in My heart and, therefore, you will encounter and experience all the same levels of love that He enjoys. You will, therefore, know the same length and breadth, height and depth of love and joy in Me that He knows only too well.

You have the same identity as He does. Since you are being made in His image, with all the fullness of Our joy. We love your learning. Please enjoy it with Us.

You have the same inheritance as My beloved Son does. The same access to everything. No measure, just fullness You are in Christ learning abundance in Him.

The quality of My relationship with Jesus in you is the basis for all of your fellowship with Me. Your fellowship becomes powerful as you abide in My relationship with Jesus in your own heart.

Beloved, you know that you can trust someone when you know who they will be for you in the deepest, darkest, most vital part of your life experience. Let Me introduce Myself...

I am the Unchanging One, who loves you in the fullest possible way.

I am relentless in love; placing you in the favor of My constant, continual affection.

My peace is your guardian, bringing you into stillness, and rest.

My joy quickens your heart, lights up your face, and empowers your enjoyment in all circumstances.

My patience overwhelms every negative thought and emotion. It will overcome every irritant, frustration and anger of the world, and the flesh, in yourself and others.

My gentleness empowers you to feel about yourself as I feel about you and to extend that courtesy to others as an act of love.

My faithfulness watches over you in all your life situations. It keeps you secure in My expectation and is your guarantee that My will is going to prevail.

My goodness overcomes all evil and overwhelms every bad thing so that expectation in the integrity of My power over you, will cause you to receive under pressure.

My kindness creates the experience of My kind intentions, so that you know what I am for you, regardless of circumstances, and how well you're doing.

Self control is where I've placed in you the authority to deny the enemy any space to affect your life in any negative way. You may bind the flesh in yourself by putting it on hold so that something better may appear.

Beloved, the fruit of the Spirit is the beating heart of all that you are learning and feeling about yourself in Me. To love someone, you must be inclusive with them. We include you with Us, no matter what you're facing, we are with you.

And you are learning to include Us, to look at Us, listen to Us, believe in Us, and ask Us. For Jesus sake, ask that you may receive. We are one with you, in Our love for you, practice love and oneness with Us.

I am unchanging to you; always the same, yesterday, today and forever. I take the pain, wounding and suffering of yesterday and I ensure it has no power to separate you from how We feel about you and how We love you.

Yesterday keeps the past away. Today is the day of life now, that overwhelms your heart with good things.

Today, I am training you to live renewed and refreshed. Do not carry a negative over into the next day. Renewal is a constant, continuous present that comes fresh every morning.

The days of accumulating negative emotions, perceptions and thoughts of the flesh, they are over. Throughout your day, when they appear, push them away. At the end of each day, make sure you've cleaned up and cleared that away.

Beloved, you're mostly learning to receive and release the fruit of the Spirit into your own life, into your circumstances and into the lives of other people. Whether they love you or not.

My nature is simplicity itself. What I am to myself, I will be to you. Who We are in Our oneness and unity is your place of acceptance and favor in Us.

Let the beauty of the Lord settle within you and overshadow you. Know the beauty of My heart towards you. The kind intentions that govern your mind, in your heart.

When you learn to revel in My unchanging heart towards you, it will be impossible for you to not be astonished and delighted at who I am for you.

I'm so happy for you to be alive in Me. Together, we will shut the door on negative history so you can never go back. Jesus, Himself, is the door into new life in the present. He is also the door to constant upgrades in the future. Everything in Him is yes and Amen. You have a green light until we turn it red. That is simplicity.

We give you promises through Scripture and prophecy. We give dreams and visions. We teach you to pray like Us, so that you will always know Our will.

Our approach to your circumstance will never alter. We turn the problems of the world into the possibilities of the Kingdom, so that you know which realm you're living in. Our goodness is huge and outrageous, which is exactly what We have in mind for you.

Goodness is nuclear in its capacity to overcome evil and regenerate a city at the same time. Every day, my goodness to you is a challenge to your heart to live from a different place. As I am, so are you yesterday, today and tomorrow.

Stop bringing negative things forward. Today is about you loving, enjoying and receiving goodness. Beloved, let no one and nothing ruin this day. And this moment in me.

To be simple in Me is to be calm, loving, delighted, patient, inclusive and self forgetful. It's time to move beyond anger, unforgiveness, pain, alienation, and regret.

Come to Me as a much-loved child. Learn the lessons of trust and faith so that you may inherit everything in Jesus.

I give you My affection and My attention. I give you a sense of wonder and delight. It is My delight in you, that creates the closeness in My loving kindness. Loving attention creates awareness and trust. Constant delight, beloved, evolves into full assurance of understanding.

Do you know identity occurs when you and I are in the same place of agreement and alignment? When that is constant and continuous, faith is simple and straightforward.

In abiding, enjoy the affection and attention that I lavish on you. This is a prime part of empowering presence.

There is no performance in order to earn anything with Me. Everything is a gift of My empowering presence. Focus on beauty, not duty. Friendship and fellowship over function. Abide in Me and I will abide in you.

Beloved, practice love, always. You don't need a reason to love. Love loves because it is the beloved. Love loves for the sake of loving.

I just described you to yourself. This is how I see you. You are just like me, right now. Stay in that place so you can receive that fullness of truth. As I am, so are you now in this life. Know the truth of My love and the freedom it releases to move into a new place in My heart.

I've already set it apart for you. It's yours now. As you embrace the truth, it sets you free from whatever blockage you may have had. Those things cannot live in the beauty of holiness.

Do you know that righteousness has two properties? First, it provokes newness, oneness and the capacity to be clean and restored day by day.

Secondly, when my righteousness and forgiveness, combined with my forgetting, they act as acid to sin and the memory of sin and uncleanness, and they all dissolve into nothing. Freedom occurs, Beloved, when all the old has passed away and everything has become new.

I encourage you to forget those things that lie behind in yesterday. And reach out, today, for those things that are in front of you. The goal of fellowship is always in reach, every day.

Today, while it's still called "today," take the hardness of negative thought, emotion and language, and push it away from you. Say, think and feel something good about yourself in Jesus and let the Spirit turn it into thanksgiving, rejoicing and praise.

For your own sake, speak out your joy and peace in believing that you are my beloved.
